

The Best Parenting Apps for FREE!

- Baby Pics Photo Editor– This app allows you to make collages, capture milestones and add creative text to show loved ones favorite photos!
- BabySparks– On this app, you'll find over 1,300 development activities and milestones that you can track like standing or crawling up stairs. There are also video instructions for tricky subject matters, like learning how to safely teach your child to roll over.
- Cozi– A shareable calendar app that every member in the family can access. It's a must-have for keeping the family organized and on schedule.
- Glow– This app is here to help you keep up with your child's development by giving you a place to log feedings, sleep schedules, medications, growth charts, and more.
- Novel Effect– Parents, teachers, and librarians can use it to spice up their read alouds or revisit old favorites by adding a new soundscape. A fun way to read with your child.
- PBS Kids ScratchJr– This app helps children ages 5-8 create their own stories and games using PBS characters and learn coding concepts at the same time.
- Peanut– Say hello to Peanut, the app for when you really want to connect with others to know that yes, your child is normal and yes, you're a great mom despite not having showered in three days.
- Sitter City– If you don't have a babysitter on call just yet, this app helps you find someone you can trust. The company performs background checks on all candidates, and parents can further screen candidates by reading through babysitter profiles, references, parent reviews, and interviews.
- What to Expect– If you're a fan of the best-selling baby book, you will love this app that offers over 15,000 articles, health news, and patient stories about development and care during preconception, pregnancy, and the newborn through toddler years.

Available to download on both apple and android devices.